Hi everyone,

Title IX is the federal law that prohibits sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating or domestic violence or stalking on college campuses or at college-sponsored events. Title IX regulations have changed significant in the last two years and as such, COCC has updated its annual Employee Title IX training. The video is approximately 12 minutes long and covers the following:

- Definitions of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating or domestic violence or stalking
- How to report an incident
- The investigation process
- Resources for support
- Your responsibilities as an employee

Please take a few minutes to review the training and if you're interested, I'm happy to meet with any department who might want additional information. Note that a similar video will be sent to students next week. Please contact me if you would like a copy of this video as I know many of you use it in your classroom or with student employees.

As always, do not hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Best,

Alicia
