

PROFILES IN SUSTAINABILITY

MEET MEGAN MICHELL

COCC NURSING ASSISTANT PROGRAM ADMINISTRATOR

THE SUSTAINABLE VISION

Megan's dedication to sustainability is woven into her approach to healthcare administration and education. She has a commitment to integrating environmental stewardship and social responsibility as pillars of the nursing profession and education at COCC.

CURRICULUM INNOVATION

Beginning with the Winter 2026 academic term at COCC, NUR 207 will be assigned a sustainability designation. It will have another learning outcome: "Analyze the major environmental, social and economic challenges and potential solutions of our time using a system thinking approach." Beginning in the Fall 2027 term, NUR 112 and NUR 107 will also be assigned a sustainability designation.

COMMUNITY IMPACT

Due to Megan's leadership in the CHIRP (Community Health Investigative Report Presentation) conference, students are being guided through the "Empowering Nurses" project. She has also helped in teaching students to research public health solutions that improve the health of the community as a whole, thus providing a real-world application for students' learning.
